We Want You

TO know something about how OLD PAL is made: In the first place we use the best grade of Malt and Hops to make a regular 3% beer. The brew is then fermented, properly aged, and by a secret process the alcohol is extracted, leaving a palatable non-intoxicating beverage. All OLD PAL is filtered twice before offered for sale and there is absolutely no danger of a second fermentation as all yeast cells are lost in filtering. To make a good beverage you must have a sanitary plant. Ours is open to the public for inspection at any time. In our next ad we will tell you something about our sanitary bottling department.

OLD PAL is sold all over town. Order a case today.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTION AT WENTWORTH

Officers of the War Department Examine Military Work.

The climax of the military work at W. M. A. came last Monday when Major C. W. Elliot and Captain W. H. H. Morris of the United States Army, inspected the corps of cadets and examined them to determine their efficiency. These officers came from headquarters of the Central Department at Chicago, and they inspected twenty-two of the leading military schools of the country in order to name the "Ten Honor Schools." It was by far the most rigid inspection that Wentworth has ever undergone. The inspectors looked into every thing, even to the smallest detail of drill, appearance, and condition of barracks. Nothing escaped their eyes but in addition to being strict, the inspection was also very fair, for every other school received the same examination and the standings will be determined on the percentage basis.

Major Elliot and Capt. Morris arrived in Lexington Sunday night and were met at the train by Col. Mitchell. Immediately after supper the inspection commenced. The mapping classes were examined and the third squad from each company was called in and the cadets quizzed on the I. D. R., the nomenclature of rifles, and everything else pertaining to military work.

Promptly at eight o'clock Monday morning the inspection of barracks began. Every room was inspected thoroughly and if there was a speck of dirt anywhere it was found. But every cadet had cleaned and scrubbed and the rooms were in excellent order. Everything was as neat as a pin.

At nine o'clock battalion parade was held. The corps went through it most snappily and really made a fine showing. The company lines were excellent and the movements good. After that battalion drill was given by Major Hadley. The whole corps went through it without any serious mistakes and did very well.

C Company gave an exhibition of extended order drill, deploying as skirmishers. The rifles of the corps were also closely examined and woe to the fellow who had let a spot of dirt or grease remain, or who had neglected a shave or a shine, for it meant a "skin" for his company. The drill of the cadets in mass calisthenics was fine, all the boys performing the exercises as one man. Following closely upon that came formal guard mount with the band and bayonet exercises by different cadet squads. The officers then inspected the kitchen, dining room, and school hospital, all of which were clean and well-equipped.

By that time it was noon. The inspectors ate dinner in the mess hall with the cadets. After a short rest the corps gave an exhibition of tent-pitching. The boys were badly handicapped by a strong wind which made it extremely difficult to set up a tent, and needless to say, no records were broken. The field problem was next and the battalion marched several miles into the country and demonstrated methods of advance and rear guarding, etc. That ended a day of hard work and the cadets marched back to school.

Major Elliot and Captain Morris left on the night train for New Mexico Military Academy. As usual they made no statements telling how the school came out. But they seemed favorably impressed. The cadet corps worked hard and really did itself credit. The whole program went off very well and few mistakes were made. It would have done any visit, or good to see the degree of efficiency that the cadets had in military work. Before leaving the inspectors reviewed the small boys of Junior Barracks and commented on the soldierly appearance.

Major S. Sellers congratulated the corps on their loyal work and granted freedom of limits at night until taps—a thing that has never been done before in recent years at W. M. A. No school was held the next day, but pictures were taken for the catalog. Whatever the outcome of the inspection, each fellow has the knowledge that he did his best.

MERITORIOUS EXHIBITION

Departments of Home Economics And Domestic Science of Central College Display Their Handiwork.

Last Saturday afternoon at Central College Domestic Science Hall an exhibition of work by the department of Home Economics was given.

Miss Updegraff, who has charge of the department had arranged a display of surprisingly beautiful models of silk, organdie, gingham, and tailored cloth gowns, sport skirts and lingerie made by her pupils. Domestic Art is evidently reduced to practical terms by these young ladies as every garment was well designed, skilfully made and ready for immediate use.

A very choice display was made by the Domestic Science pupils. Recipes in the Central Cook Book had been used and included real bread, Scotch short-bread, salads and salad dressings, pies, cakes and many other delectable things. One who uses the cook book can vouch for the word "delectable" but the domestic science artists must be given credit for the artistic arrangement and garnishing of each article.

Miss Updegraff, assisted by pupils served tea and wafers, and as gracious hostess to all visitors made the occasion seem a social funtion as well as a practical demonstration of excellent work.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. White returned Friday evening from Jefferson City, after attending a five-day meeting of the County Superintendents of the State. Mr. White reports a good meeting. He was elected a member of the Executive Committee for next year to represent the second College district composed of twenty-one counties.

How is Your Complexion?

A woman should grow more beautiful as she grows older and she will with due regard to baths, diet and exercise, and by keeping her liver and bowels in good working order. If you are haggard and yellow, your eyes losing their lustre and whites becoming yellowish, your flesh flabby, it may be due to indigestion or to a sluggish liver. An Accurate Corn Planter Is One of Your Best Friends

There is a big difference between the yield of crops planted with an inaccurate planter and one that is accurate. You use the same amount of seed—but the difference in the crop often amounts to as much as five, six or seven—yes, and more bushels per acre.

Here is a point we want you to think over: If a planter misses only fifteen kernels in every 100 hills, there is a loss of five bushels per acre in the yield.

The accurate planter avoids that loss—it proves to be one of your best friends because it does faithful work and saves your money.

We want to show you the John Deere No. 999 Corn Planter—a planter that has built a first-class reputation because of its accuracy. It is just as accurate as the human hand.

You can plant two, three or four kernels without changing seed plates or stopping the team. You can change from hilling to drilling instantly. You get nine different drilling distances without changing the plates.

We will be glad to have you call and see why this planter has been termed the accurate planter. Putting it into your field this year may save you a lot of money when you gather your crop. Let us show it to you at any rate. We'll be glad to see you, even though you aren't ready to buy now.
